2021-22 CWAC Boys' Basketball All-Conference Team

Below are the all-conference teams and specialty award winners, as nominated and selected by the seven head coaches of the Central Washington Athletic Conference for the 2021-22 boys' basketball season. Junior Levi Pepper of Selah High School was voted as the Player of the Year, marking the sixth consecutive conference season in which a Pepper brother has been named CWAC Player of the Year. He joins older brothers Elijah (2016-17 and 2017-18) and Noah (2018-19, 2019-20, and Spring 2021) with the honor.

Sixth-year head coach Frankie Medina of Grandview High School was chosen as Coach of the Year, marking the second time that the Greyhounds' mentor has been named CWAC Coach of the Year. He guided the Greyhounds to a 10-2 conference record and the top seed for the District 5/6 Tournament that begins Wednesday.

Ephrata High School was selected to receive the team sportsmanship award.
